

ARMY OF VOLUNTEERS

Over Two Hundred Thousand Men Engaged in Late War.

Of This Large Body of Fighting Men, Taken from Office, Work Bench and Farm, Most Officers and 4,550 Men Met Death.

A pamphlet has just been issued by the adjutant general's office under the title of "Statistical exhibit of strength of volunteer forces called into service during the war with Spain, with losses from all causes." The volunteer force consisted of 10,017 officers and 213,218 enlisted men, a total of 223,235, who were engaged in the war. The deaths numbered 148 officers and 4,550 enlisted men. In the list of officers killed in action, Kansas and South Dakota lead with three each and Nebraska had two, while no other state had more than one. Of enlisted men killed in action or dying from wounds received in action, Nebraska lost 82, Kansas 30, and South Dakota 24. New York lost 15, while 26 of the states had no losses.

In the total number of enlisted men who died from all causes New York leads with 417, Illinois 251, Massachusetts 274, Pennsylvania 239, Ohio 225 and Michigan 205. Nevada lost but one man.

The losses of men from murder or homicide were three from Alabama, three from North Carolina, two each from Florida, Kentucky, New York and Virginia, and one each from nine other states, besides seven among the United States volunteers. Of the suicides of enlisted men three each came from Alabama and New York, and two each from Florida, Kentucky and Tennessee.

In deaths from disease among enlisted men New York had 380 out of about 20,000 enlisted; Illinois had 274 out of about 12,000; Massachusetts 255 out of about 6,500; Ohio 219 out of less than 14,000; Pennsylvania 216 out of less than 17,000, and Michigan 200 out of less than 6,000.

In desertions from the ranks New York is charged with 514, or about 2-1-3 per cent, while North Dakota and the District of Columbia had none, and Utah had but one. Tennessee has 249 out of a total of about 6,000, about four per cent. One desertion is charged to "general officers and staff."

NEW TEN DOLLAR NOTES.

The Picture of the Battleship Maine Will Be an Artistic Feature of the Bill.

The new ten-dollar silver notes soon to be issued will bear a handsome tribute to the American navy. The central feature of the certificates, says the Syracuse Herald, will be a steel engraving of the battleship Maine, plowing the seas under full steam, as she left the United States for Havana, under Capt. Sigbee, nearly two years ago. The engraving is unusually fine in workmanship and spirited in conception. The white hull stands out conspicuously on the water, with the dark cap of the turret and heavy armament. Two heavy guns point over the bow, which cuts the water gracefully as that of a yacht. The other features of the certificate are medallions of two of the naval heroes who made the flag respected early in the century by their victories over the British and the pirates of the Mediterranean. The uniform of that time, with its gold lace and fringed epaulettes, gives a picturesque historical character to the portraits. Over each medallion is inscribed the partly draped figure of a goddess, holding a branch of laurel.

These are the essentially artistic features of the new note. They do not interfere with the general plan of all new notes, to leave a considerable expanse of white paper, in which the silk threads add to the facility for detecting counterfeiters. The figure "10" appears in large plain type in each corner, while the Roman numerals, in pale blue, on the left side of the note, balance the seal in the same color on the right. The words "United States of America" run straight across the top of the note in a graceful style of type.

PARDONED AFTER YEARS.

St. Louis Men, Convicted of Murder and Sentenced to Life Imprisonment, Proved Innocent.

Jacob Henze and Henry Kaiser, who were convicted of the murder of Edwin E. Brown in St. Louis in March, 1893, and sentenced to the Jefferson City penitentiary for life, were released the other day and returned to St. Louis. They were accompanied by Harry B. Hawes, president of the St. Louis board of police commissioners. It was at the solicitation of Mr. Hawes that Gov. Stephens signed their pardons. Mr. Hawes became convinced several years ago of the men's innocence and has worked assiduously for their release ever since.

The case of Henze and Kaiser is probably unusual in criminal annals. They were eight times reviewed, once in three hours of the time set for hearing, ultimately being consigned to life imprisonment at hard labor. The men were convicted on purely circumstantial evidence. The real murderers, as revealed by investigation by the police department, were three notorious local criminals, all of whom have died since the conviction of Henze and Kaiser.

MUCH GOOD COAL IN CUBA.

Deposits Discovered May Affect the Development of the Iron Industry.

It is believed at Santiago that the problem of utilizing the vast resources of the island in iron and manganese has been solved by the recent discovery of extensive deposits of coal in the Mayarí district, near Nipi bay. Tests of several tons taken from the outcroppings and brought to Santiago for experiment show that the coal is of very high grade, resembling fine cannel coal.

Mining men are surprised and delighted. Little search for coal has been made owing to the belief of the government geologists that deposits of coal were not likely to be found in the island.

Already a company is being organized to begin mining operations, with a view afterward of establishing smelting works if the coal supply warrants it. According to several mining managers who are interested in it, the finding of a sufficient coal supply would mean an immediate rise in the value of all Cuban mining properties.

GIVES VALUABLE BOOKS.

Miss Helen Gould Enriches New York's Public Library by Berrian Collection.

The trustees of the New York public library announce that Miss Helen Gould has given the library the Berrian collection of books relating to Mormonism. Four hundred and fifty books, many of them rare, 300 pamphlets and 52 volumes of newspapers are in the Berrian collection, which forms a complete history of the Mormon church and is of great historical value besides. Miss Gould said she believed everyone should become well informed on this subject so as to guard against the evils of Mormonism.

Making Marriage a Success.

A law has been passed in Norway which makes girls ineligible for matrimony who cannot show certificates of skill in cooking, knitting and spinning. Now, if they would pass a law in Norway to prevent men who are too lazy to build the fires and shovel off the snow from leading girls to the altar, suggests the Chicago Times-Herald, married life would be one grand, sweet song over there.

Forest Reserve in North Carolina. A movement has been started in North Carolina to induce the national government to establish a great forest reserve of 500,000 acres in the mountains of that state and it is probable it will be successful.

ANCIENT RUINS DISCOVERED.

Remains of a Canal on the Ute Reservation.

In constructing irrigation ditches for the government on the recently opened Ute reservation Thomas H. Wigglesworth unearthed ancient ruins of a unique character. Mr. Wigglesworth indicates that they are of the highest scientific importance. He is a civil engineer who has lived many years in southwestern Colorado and is well trained in archaeological research.

Tradition and other evidence leads to the belief that the cliff dwellers were the immediate forerunners of the modern Indians. Mr. Wigglesworth believes ruins found by him were undoubtedly inhabited by a partially civilized people differing widely in habits from the races they preceded. It is his opinion that this earlier race lived in the fertile valleys and inhabited adobe houses. Continuing, he said:

"The mud houses occupied sites on the level ground and were surrounded by fields of grain. I have dug through mounds 75 feet long and 30 feet wide, which represent the remains of one of the large adobe structures.

"In carrying forward the work on the large canal recently ordered by the government for the Utes we uncovered the foundation of a circular structure which had one story underground. It is my opinion that the principal houses of these unknown people were two stories in height—one story above ground and one story below. The ruins which we excavated are perfectly round, and the foundations are as solid as the day they were completed. It was apparently built tens of thousands of years ago. I can point out hundreds of mounds of a nature similar to the one we opened.

"We uncovered the most beautiful vase of antique workmanship I ever saw. The vase was black with age, and as the workmen of that region, especially the Indians, are superstitious in such matters, they threw the vase over the dump and I had quite a task finding it again. The Indians will handle nothing that comes from the ruins."

PROTOCOL PAINTING.

Signing of the Peace Document Well Handled by Artist Theobald Chartan.

The painting by the French artist, Theobald Chartan, representing the scene at the signing of the peace protocol at the white house, has been placed on view at the Knoedler gallery. The picture was painted on a commission given by Henry C. Frick, of Pittsburgh. It is to be exhibited at the Paris salon next May. There is an opinion prevalent that Mr. Frick ultimately will present the canvas to the nation.

In size the picture is smaller than historical pictures usually are, but the group of seven men present at the important meeting has been well handled by the artist.

The room is the president's executive office. The light comes from the open window, for the day is a hot one in August, through which a perspective of the white house playgrounds is seen. A table fills the center of the picture. At its head stands the president, to his left are the secretaries of state, Mr. Taft and Mr. Root. To the right of the president is the secretary of war, Mr. Taft, and to his left is the secretary of the navy, Mr. Root. In the accessories the technical skill of the painter is cleverly shown.

WOULD ABOLISH LOCK STEP.

New York State Prison Commission Makes an Important Recommendation.

The abolition of the lock step and convict stripes in the prisons of the state is recommended by the state prison commission, of which Lispenard Stewart, of New York city, is president. In its annual report to be submitted to the legislature the commission contends that the chief object of imprisonment is the protection of society, which can be more effectively accomplished by the reformation of the prisoner rather than by simply punishing him, and that imprisonment should be corrective rather than punitive. Hence it is recommended that nothing should be done to crush the prisoner's self-respect or unnecessarily humiliate him, and suggestion is made that, in the judgment of the commission, it is worth while for the prison authorities to consider whether the lock step, as practiced in the prisons, is not unnecessarily humiliating and degrading to convicts and not in keeping with the approved methods of reformatory imprisonment.

EARLY MORNING SERVICE.

An Experiment to Be Tried by Rev. Dr. Wilton Merle Smith, of New York.

Rev. Dr. Wilton Merle Smith has inaugurated early Sunday morning service at Central Presbyterian church, New York, and churchgoers of all Protestant denominations are deeply interested in the experiment. It is the first time any Presbyterian minister has ever tried to compete with the early mass of the Roman Catholics or the early morning communion services of the Episcopalians.

"The first of these services was held the other Sunday morning," said Dr. Smith, "and I believe they will prove highly successful. The members of the congregation to whom I have talked think it a capital move. One paper states that this move had been taken for the sake of the servant girl. That is nonsense. Of course the servant girl is as welcome as the millionaire, but we are not catering particularly to her or to anyone else.

"The early morning service is for every one. There will be prayers, responsive readings, and a short sermon, all of which will last only 30 minutes. We simply desire to make our church as useful as possible in the community."

AT ODDS WITH SOCIETY.

Julia Ward Howe Not Pleased with the Modern Manners of High Social Life.

Mrs. Julia Ward Howe is not satisfied with the manners of the general public, and especially is she displeased with the manners of what she terms "high society." She announced this at a meeting of the New York League of Unitarian Women in All Souls' church, Twentieth street and Fourth avenue, New York, the other day. The object of the meeting was a discussion of "The Century's Progress in Morals and Manners."

"I wonder," said Mrs. Howe, "if the manners of the general public have improved at all? I contrast with the manners of my youth the free use in high society of what we may call the dialects of low life. Worst of all, is the aping by Americans of foreign tastes and ambition."

An Address Wanted. The man who was discharged by the bankruptcy court of debts amounting to $5,000,000 will please inform a waiting world, says the Chicago Record, as to the address of the confiding person from whom he has been buying his groceries.

Illegal Mortgage. In a Texas case Judge Dillard decides that a mortgage on an unplanted crop is wholly illegal and void.

State Charities Are Association of New York Reports There is No Demand for Boys.

According to the twenty-seventh annual report of the State Charities and Aid association, of New York, the demand for girl babies for adoption in the state is greater than the supply, while boys are a drug on the market. The report continues: "A sufficient number of good homes can easily be found for girls over ten years of age, who are available for placing in homes—this is especially true of babies. It is probable that good family homelike can be found in this state for all girls whose circumstances are such that they should be placed out."

An Editor's Life Saved by Chamberlain's Cough Remedy.

During the early part of October, 1893, I contracted a bad cold which settled on my lungs and was neglected until I feared that consumption had appeared in an incipient stage. I was constantly coughing and trying to expel something which I could not. I became alarmed and after giving the local doctor a trial bought a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and the result was immediate improvement, and after I had used three bottles my lungs were restored to their healthy state.—R. S. EDWARDS, Publisher of The Review, Wyant, Ill. For sale by M. Cravens, Columbia, Ky.
